U. S. MOTHER ENDS VISIT TO SON IN RED JAIL

PEIPING, Oct. 29 (Reuters)

An American widow, Mrs. Ruth Redmond, 64, today left on the first leg of her trip home after her first visit in four years to her son, Hugh, who is serving a life sentence for alleged spying.

Redmond, 42, has been in jail for 11 years. A wartime paratrooper, he was arrested in China while working for an export-import firm and is one of four Americans still held in Chinese jails.

Last week, his mother wrote to Mao Tse-Tung, Chinese communist Leader, appealing for her son's release, but before leaving said she had received no reply. Mrs. Redmond plans to stay in Hong Kong a few days before flying to the United States in hope of receiving a reply from Mao.
